SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Advantages of life in the tropical islands is extolled as Utopia . . . . where the climate is moderate the year 'round, a variety of fishing for sport and food and sustenance available without cost, for the taking. We wonder at the lack of initiative of the natives who make little or no effort to commercialize these unusual advantages, which we contrast with our own conditions . . . . these things that are theirs for the taking.

To the casual observer, Truckee is not located at the summit of the Sierras, but is nevertheless "sitting on top of the world". Many other communities envy Truckee's natural year-'round advantages. Most sections are dependent for their growth, progress and business on one seasonal production. Not so the Truckee-Tahoe region, which through the past many years has built up reknown for summer fishing and winter sports. Other communities with less natural advantages are endeavoring to imitate this area and to gain some of those assets of which tourist expenditures is not the least. They are spending considerable money, time and effort in preparing and advertising their section as a mecca for the sportsmen —summer or winter . . . . they are going after those things which have been this region's for many years. Will they get them? will their initiative, publicity and preparation be successful in minimizing Truckee and Tahoe as the central attractions for fishing, ice skating, skiing, tobogganing, hunting and incidental interests (and expenditures) . . . . or will Truckee be like the native of the tropical islands and ignore the advantages which other sections covet to a point of expending much time, money and effort to acquire?

For years we have watched Truckee and heard people in other sections keep alive her traditions and maintain her reputation as the sportsmen's paradise. Will Truckee capitalize or will some other sections take these advantages one by one and leave Truckee a "once-was", wondering why business gradually slackened ed?

We wondered at the thoughts of occupants of a car bearing a plate "New York World's Fair-1939," as they traveled east, probably after a visit to the San Francisco exposition, through the scenic wonderland of Truckee and Donner area, following a truck overflowing with California watermelons for the eastern markets.

Week's Mishaps Kills One; Many Others Injured

Negress Succumbs To Fatal Injuries On Donner Highway

TWO SUMMIT CRASHES

Filipinos Fortunate to Miss Death at Scene of Fatalties

One woman was killed and several others hurt, some seriously, in a series of motor accidents in the district over the past week.

Mrs. Louvina Kemp, 85, colored, died at a Reno hospital Saturday morning from injuries sustained the day previous when an ancient sedan, driven by her son, Rev. Harvey B. Birdson, got out of control coming down Donner grade and was demolished. The son, said to be an Oaklnad clergyman, is still in a serious condition in the hospital.

Sergeant C. E. McKeen, who investigated, said the old car was without brakes.

Four Filipinos were injured when their car skidded into the rocks near the top of Donner Summit this week. The driver was cited, according to Sergeant McKeen. Fortunately the car did not go off the grdae which is 300 feet straight up and down where the accident occured.

Frank Wise, 64, was cited by Sergeant McKeen Thursday night following an accident near Farad in which Wise, his wife, Josephine, and Herbert Pierce, all of Tahoe, suffered injuries. Mrs. Wise has a badly broken arm and Pierce several broken ribs. The driver was not badly hurt.

After treatment by Dr. J. H. Bernard, the trio was taken to Tahoe.

GOVERNOR'S VETO SENDS COUNTY TAX RATE UP SIX CENTS

Tax levies by governmental units in Nevada county totalled $401,326 for the year 1938-1939, an average of $21.93 for each man woman and child in the county according to a survey recently completed by the California Taxpayers Assocation.

Included in the $401,326, $253,720 was for general county purposes, $93,938 for school purposes, $13,743 for school bonds, $5,192 in special district taxes and $34,733 in city taxes. The county ranked 56th from the top in taxes levied per capita by counties.

Nevada county taxpayers will have to pay 6 cents more per $100 assessed valuation for the 1939-1940 period than they did in 1938-1939. This is due primarily to Gov. Culbert Olson's veto of AB 2817 which would have passed $6,700,000 on to counties to help meet old age pension needs. Nevada county was to get $23,000 from this source. Had this act been signed, a 9 cent reduction, instead of the increase, was anticipated.

The county pays $35 per month to its needy aged. Previous to the veto, the state and county shared the local assessment of $20 equally and the federal government paid in $15. Now the county must shoulder the entire burden of $20 per recipient.

The tax rate of $1.66 includes a 6 cent assessment for the Truckee veterans' hall here.

Adding to the tax burden of local taxpayers is the sum of $855 paid to dren, an average of $47.50 per child per month.

Lightning Fires In This Area Cause Concern

All Fires Controlled By Forest Men Before Damage Done

Lightening storms during the period of July 27 through July 29 started 12 fires in the Truckee district and 11 in the Sierraville district of the Tahoe National Forest, according to Ranger Hobart I. Snider. Eight fires were also started in Mono National Forest, Nevada, from the same cause. Three of the fires in the Truckee district were in the area southwest of Martis Peak. They were sighted by the Stateline Lookout but before suppression crews could arrive, the heavy rain has smothered the flames. Strict vigilance is being maintained as it is feared the fires may be smouldering in old dead trees and will be fanned to life again by the dry winds.

All the other fires were controlled before they did any damage.

Aiding the hard-working forestry men were CCC enrollees from Hobart Mills, Boca and Rubican camps, 13 workers from the Union Paving Company highway construction job on US 40 and a few local volunteers.

The first part of the storm brought very little rain but it fell heavily in certain areas later, .05 of inch falling at Truckee Thursday and .37 on Saturday. Intermittent thunder storms have occurred since Sunday in spotted areas and Snider predicts that the storm period is not yet over.

Yesterday Martis Lookout reported a fire west of Genoa Peak in the Mono Forest east of Lake Tahoe that is presumed to have been smouldering since the storm last week.

Two small fires occurred at Lake Tahoe Tuesday as a result of children carelessly playing with matches. One was near Brockway Golf Course and was controlled in the pine needles where it started by a local man and Duane Collins, Stateline Lookout fireman.

Miss Suzanne Sullivan, San Mateo socialite, plead guilty to throwing a lighted cigarette from a moving car and was fined $10 in the court of Justice E. D. Bliss at Tahoe City. Enforcement officer J. D. Rafferty was the arresting officer.

Strict enforcement of all forest service regulations has been made necessary by the dryness of the forest area.

County Gets Large Share Of Gas Taxes of State

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3— State Controller Harry B. Riley today announced the apportionment of $16,698.44 in gasoline tax funds to Nevada county for the quarter which ended June 30. The apportionment is based on a total of 7,177 motor vehicles in the county.

Controller Riley apportioned a total of $11,427,956.94, of which one-third or $3,809,318.98 was distributed to the counties. This was the largest gas tax apportionment ever made by the State for a quarter ending June 30, Riley said. The amount was 1.24 per cent greater than that apportioned for the corresponding quarter of the previous fiscal year.

Apportionments to the counties and the State Highway Department for the fiscal year 1938-1939 totalled $47,015,239. Of that amount, counties got $15,671,746 and the highway department $31,343,493.

Diesel fuel tax revenue in the quarter totalled $93,479, Riley said. The money is uesd to repair bridges in the State highway system.

Protests Filed Against Local Veterans' Hall

Type of Construction For Local Edifice Is Under Fire

ASK INVESTIGATION

Veterans, Lions, Chamber Urge Study of New Memorial

Through its civic and fraternal organizations, Truckee is putting up a rigid protest against the type of structure and method of awarding contracts for the proposed new Veterans' Memorial Building, which was started here this week following the awarding of a contract to Contractor Peterson of Sacramento for a sum of $23,600.

The civic committee of the Truckee Lions Club wired the supervisors and Foreman Tom Casey of the Nevada County Grand Jury asking that work be suspended pending a thorough investigation.

This action followed similar steps taken by Truckee Post No. 439 of the American Legion this week. The veterans, vitally interested in the building, are unanimously displeased with the method of awarding the contract and the type of building and promised action to prevent continuance under present plans.

The directors of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce have directed telegrams of protest and it is reported a petition is being circultaed requesting a thorough investigation of all phases of the contract and asking that the officials adhere more closely to the desires of the community for which the building is designed.

While it is understood the contract was awarded by the supervisors, following a previous protest by the Legion, urging a different type of building, more in keeping with the community, it is hoped that the setup can be altered even though it will mean temporary delay in the construction.

A committee consisting of chairman C. Edmunds, C. B. White, F. W. Gaiennie, H. T. Langille and N. F. Dolley has the authority of the Lions Club to take any action deemed necessary to have the present plans discarded and a more suitable structure designed to replace it. The building committee of the American Legion, headed by James McIver, Jr., has been authorized to take similar action for the local post.

Original bids for the building ranged upward from $41,000. Alternates were removed and the low bidder, Peterson, agreed to do the work for $38,000, it was reported. The plans, with the alternates omitted, did not meet with the approval of the American Legion and a request was sent the board asking delay until plans could be altered and new bids called.

Then, without any announced local authority, it was revealed that Peterson had secured a contract, without rebidding, for a $23,000 structure, similar in design to the one refused by the post, but drastically cut down in size and appointments.

Local word that the building would be erected came only after men were on the job here preparing to erect the structure on the foundation of the old McGlashen home.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3—(UP)—Something like a volcano, the State Relief Administration has been bubbling and seething. Some of these days there will be an eruption and it promises to be momentous.

It goes without saying that criticism is inescapable in such a big an organization as the SRA, dealing as it does with the lives and welfare of so many persons. Thus it is not surprising that State Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson has been under almost constant fire since he accepted the post from Governor Culbert Olson last December.

Even many members of his own party have turned against Anderson and he's under a terrific strain and pressure. Staff heads have been switched around, investigations made, legislative inquiries endured and still comes the rumblings of a shakeup.

Several recent devlopments are worth watching. The threat to move the SRA headquarters from San Francisco to Los Angeles almost gave bay area dignitaries apoplexy as they frantically pulled wires to hold the office in the north. The state Democratic Central Committee met in Los Angeles and sentiment was against the change to prevent party discord.

Current topic of speculation is the outcome of an investigation by the State Relief Commission. A subcommittee met in Los Angeles last weekend, presumably to inquire further into the question whether politics inspired the SRA move and several recent SRA administrative changes.

One of the administrative headaches concerns Walter Ballou of Los Angeles, deputy director of motor vehicles until drafted by Olson for the post of administrative assistant in the SRA. The scope of his authority was placed in question when Anderson issued an interoffice bulletin that he was serving only in an advisory capacity in the personnel department and did not have administrative or executive duties.

Ballou went into office shortly after the discharge of William J. Plunkert from the SRA high command. Plunkert was the stormy petrel of a legislative probe into charges of radicalism within the SRA.

To all suggestions that Anderson be shelved for a less-controversial appointee, the governor to date has turned a deaf ear and praises his administrator.

An added factor that makes the fuss all the more important is Anderson's announcement that the SRA would gradually replace the federally-operated Works Progress Administration as the state's major unemployment relief organization.

It has not been made clear how the new setup will operate, nor how it will be financed. California is already having a dificult time making both ends meet and unemployment relief expenses have contributed greatly to building up the greatest cash deficiency in the history of the state.

When the WPA finishes its drastic program of retrenchment and laying off workers, the state rolls must absorb part of the load. That raises the question of what will happen if more money is needed than the 40 per cent of the $35,000,000 relief appropriation voted by the legislature to last until the end of September. If funds are exhausted, will there be a special session to vote more?

Normally, the legislature was not expected back in Sacramento until early in 1940, then to settle relief and finish the biennial appropriation. An earlier session would be most unpopular, particularly since the legislature just finished a month without pay.

Several weeks verdue is the report of Olson's committee on reemployment, headed by John R. Richards of Los Angeles. This report was supposed to be the foundation of the administration's new relief policy, particularly on the matter of having reliefers employed on works projects instead of receiving a cash dole.

ON THE FIRING LINE

The outstanding feature of this session of Congress has been the way the Republican minority has frequently out-voted the New Dealers. Time and again Senator McNary or Minority Leader Martin has been able to stop unwise legislation because when the time for voting arrived there were more Republicans than New Dealers on the floor of the House or Senate. This has happened because G. O. P. congressmen have subordinated other engagements in order to be near enough to hear the roll call bells. Many Republican delegations have rung up unusual attendance records.

To take one state as an example, Michigan has a record to be proud of. From January 3 to June 23, there were 189 quorum and 38 roll calls in the Senate. Senator Vandenberg answered to his name 215 out of there 227 possibilities. In the House, during the same period, there were 40 quorum and 62 roll calls. Representative Carl E. Mapes had a perfect score, present 102 times. Records of other Michigan House members were: Dondero, present 99 times; Michener, 98; Tenorowicz, 97; Engel, 94, and Wolcott 93. And there are other states that can boast of equally fine records.

STORY WITH A MORAL

In a Philadelphia court six joyful refugees who had just ben granted United States citizenship offered to buy an American flag to hang in the court room. There were three Italians, two Czechoslovakians and a Russian. The Russian was a refugee from a Communist country and the others from Fascist countries.

Said the six afterbegin granted their citizenship papers: "We are so happy to become American citizens that we thought Your Honor wouldn't object if we put our money together and bought a flag for your courtroom." The judge thanked the new citizens but refused their offer and ordered that a flag for the room be purchased immediately with the proper funds.

The plea of the refugees was a fine gesture, and they should prove to be valuable Americans, for they may help to convince some in this country that life in the "ism" countries is not what the dictators would have us believe that it is. Further, it should stir other Americans to vigilance to fight down the spread of these "ism" doctirines in the United States.

HARLAN FORGETS A LESSON

Harlan County, Kentucky, has again chosen to settle its difficulties the hard way. Violence and rioting have already brought their toll of deaths in the largest of the many chapters of bloodshed that have been written in that region's labor troubles. Four deaths, to date, are the measurable losses. But the loss to the welfare of that community in the bitterness engendered by strife cannot be measured, although it is there, and doubtless awaits its chance to exact its pound of flesh in return. That the attempt to destroy rightful liberties only begets further destruction in reprisal is an old history lesson that Harlan has yet to learn. at hand, in the history of bloody Harlan County itself, stands vivid proof of the fact. Perhaps someday it will learn.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Who writes whose bills is becoming an important issue at the Capitol these days.

Congress is getting jealous of its prerogatives. This is especially so since the New Deal Brain Trusters lost the congressional rubber stamp. That stamp has been missing since last November's election. The New Dealers can't find the stamp anywhere.

And, in the meantime, Congress is asking that embarrassing question of who wrote whose bill.

The issue has been projected to the froeground over the O'Mahoney bill. This measure is designed to strengthen the anti-trust laws. One means of doing this is by setting up severe penalties for violation of the laws. No one is opposed to that except for this BUT—

The BUT is that no one knows, in many instances, when the anti-trust law has been violated until the court decides. It's just as baffling as cracking a nut or opening an oyster. Both may look good from the outside but may not be so good on the inside.

Consequently, a business man may suddenly find that the way he has been conducting his business is in violation of the anti-trust law. If he is convicted of this he would be subject to a fine of twice his monthly income for the period he had been violating the law. His corporation is subject to a fine for the same period. The business man also may be removed from his position. Further, he may be prohibited from getting a job in the same line of business.

For this reason the question is being asked of Who Wrote Whose Bill. No congressmen wrote the bill. It waa written by an administration New Dealer and sent to the Capitol.

The same has been found to be true with the new Spend-Lend program. No congressman suggested the program. They had approved $1,700,000,000 for relief next year. None of them thought of an additional $3,800,000,000 lend-spend project.

And again, Who Wrote Whose Bill, was asked. Again it developed that another administration New Dealer had worked up the project.

So goes the story of Who Wrote Whose Bill.

The neutrality fight has brought out some rather rash and conflicting predictions on the possibility of war. To support the plea for more White House control over foreign affairs, the administration pleaders for the neutrality revision sprinkled supposedly "confidential" reports around the Capitol, purporting to reveal "absolute' dope that a war was coming.

But the congressmen were getting their dope elsewhere, and that information was that a war is not likely this year. That is the dope of Washington military experts who are really in the know. That is why Congress moved to shelve the President's request for neutrality powers.

Watch for some amazing stories to come out of Washington during August and September. On August 1 the House committee investigating un-American activities resumed its probing of the sub-surface borings of Communists, Fascists, Nazis and other un-American groups. Reports are current at the Capitol that the findings of the investigators during the recent recess of the committee are much more startling than had been anticipated.

A bitter feud is on between one of the Washington columnists and one of the ultra-New Dealish cabinet members. The writer said several blunt things about the cabinet mem-

The Man At The Keyhole

(BY OPERATIVE WB)

Governor Olson's signature of four anti-loan shark bills, cracking down on interest rates in the small loians business, may not end the argument, according to our undercover operative. Referendum petitions probably will be placed in circulation against the bills. And just securing the signatures to qualify petitions against four separate bills (even at wholesale rates) will cost about a hundred grand. Small loans must pay big dividends!

From our roving reporter comes the dope that Arthur J. Koletzke, county clerk and auditor of El Dorado County, has a good chance to win the state senate seat left vacant by Andy Pierovich's elevation to an Amador County judgeship. In Orange County Assemblyman Thomas H. Kuchel has the inside track for the senate vacancy, our scout informs us.

Regardles of whether it ever receives voter-approval, the Ham and Egg pension scheme seems destined to cost California a great deal of money. For in addition to the $700,000 in special election costs and the hundreds of thousands that will be spent pro and con campaigning on the issue, state interest rates on registered warrants are reaching for the ceiling. Last week, the sole bid on a block of $4,000,000 worth of warrants was a net rate of 3.55 per cent, or 1.05 per cent higher than the bid of a week previous. And until the big pension proposal is defated, state officials see little hope of improvement!

CAPITOL WEEK

by NEWTON STEARNS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3—(UP)—The books were closed on the 53rd legislative session during the past week with Governor Culbert Olson's approval or pocket veto of the last of 1397 bills passed by the lawmakers.

When the deadline for signing of bills expired at midnight Tuesday, several controversial bills lay in the discard, among them the Fulcher bookie bill, a compulsory flag measure salute measure, a bill which would have barred certain aliens from relief, a proposal to allow only citizens to practice medicine in California, and an appropriation bill calling for distribution of $6,700,000 to the counties to aid them in meeting old age pension requirements.

Outstanding among those signed by the governor in the final few days were the Shelley-Wollenberg-Phillips small loan bills, which set a maximum interest rate of 2½ per cent on loans up to $100 and 2 per cent over that amount. Olson vetoed the Garland bills on the same subject which would have permitted a higher average interest charge.

Also signed during the last week was the Jesperson prorate revision bill, which was the legislature's answer to widespread complaints from farmers against operation of the California prorate act.

Under the Jesperson bill the present prorate commission is abolished and administration of the act is placed with the state Department of Agriculture. Other provision were included to give the farmers themselves greater control over formation and dissolution of surplus control programs.

Scores of special appropriation bills were vetoed by Olson on grounds the state is in no position to meet increased expenditures since the legislature rejected his $63,000,000,000 revenue program.

Tending to confirm this conclusion was a financial report issued by State Controller Harry B. Riley showing the state government to be in its worst financial condition in history on the basis of figures compiled at the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

Riley reported a $51,000,000 cash deficiency as of that date.

Cause of the all-time high red ink balance, the controller said, was rising expenditures and decreasing income, including at 21 per cent increase in cost of old age pensions.

Validity of Governor Olson's appointment of Senator Jesse Carter of Redding to the state supreme court was sent for final settlement to the very men who will be Carter5s colleagues if his elevation is confirmed—the supreme court.

The appointment was rejected by a qualifications commission composed of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court William H. Waste, Presiding Justice John T. Nourse of the First District Court of Appeal, and Attorney-General Earl Warren. Carter obtained a high court review of the action, with hearing scheduled for early in August.

Also affected by the outcome of Carter's case will be Olson's appointment of Los Angeles Senator Robert Kenny as presiding justice of the First District Court of Appeal, which Kenny has not yet formally accepted.

A major controversy was touched off in southern California by action of the Olson administration in attempting to split winter horse racing dates in the Los Angeles area between Santa Anita and Hollywood Park.

Events moved rapidly after two members of the state Racing Commission resigned in protest against "political" maneuverings in the matter. Governor Olson later declared officially that he believed Hollywood Park should share in the winter season, which has so far been the exclusive, monopoly of (and yielded tremendous profits to) Santa Anita. The governor also recommended shorter racing seasons generally on moral grounds and because of protests that betting on the races works extreme hardship on business.

Dr. Charles Strub, managing director of Santa Anita, offered as a compromise a deal by which the state would receive 60 per cent fo the profits. A definite settlement was expected soon, with appointments to fill the two racing board vacancies in immediate offing.

Governor Olson, interviewed by newspaper Guildsman Heywood Broun in Log Angeles, renewed his endorsement of President Roosevelt for a third term and disclaimed any presidential or vice presidential ambitions of his own for 1940.

FIRES IN STATE RAZE 250,000 ACRES IN JULY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3—(UP)—Forest and range fires in the first four weks of July cuased damage throughout California five times as great as that caused in the previous six months, estimates of the state Division of Forestry revealed today.

Official figures showed that more than 700 fires burned over nearly 250,00 acres during the month, the highest total for a single month ever recorded. The damage was estimated at $500,000 compared with $115,5000 for the previous six months.

The fires, as many as 10 burning at one time, kept on fire lines the largest crews ever employed. During the month an average of 500 firefighters were employed.

S. L. Lamerton, chief state dispatcher, called the situation the worst he ever had seen and said the danger period would last at least two monts longer.

Tabulations on property damage for the first six months of the year revealed a total property damage of $1155,878 to 47,961 acres burned. The damage was divided among merchantable timber, $4,492; range land, $13,740; hay and grain, $47,917, and improvements, $49,229.

Lamerton commented "There was a universal lack of ground moisture, caused by subnormal spring rain and snow fall. Vegetation was tinder dry throughout the fire hazard areas."

PLACER COUNTY FAIR TO STAGE CONTEST FOR QUEEN OF FAIR

ROSEVILLE, Aug. 3—A queen contest, open to any girl over the age of 4 years and resident in Placer or surrounding counties, promises to stir interest in the forthcoming Placer County Fair to be held in Roseville, August 25, 26 and 27.

It was announced today by Ralph Kahn, conducting the contest for the fair association, that the race is ready to begin at once. He has, he said, one entry in, even before he had completed compiling the rules.

Besides being queen of the Placer County Fair, the winning lady will receive a free trip to Hollywood for herself and companion, including dinner dancing at the Coconut Grove of the world famous Ambassador Hotel, invitations to visit the film studios and watch pictures made, a splendid sightseeing tour with meals, hotel and other expenses paid.

"Don't think for a minute this is confined to single girls," Kahn said today. "Anyone, single or married, over 14 years of age, is eligible to compete. And the measure of their success is the amount of effort they put in and the help they can enlist from their friends."

BUSINESS BETTER IN JUNE SAYS MANAGER

Business in California and throughout the Far West showed general improvement during June, according to Yell Nobles, manager of the local branch of Bank of America.

Quoting the business review for that month prepared by the bank's analysis and research department, he stated that retail trade reported by 63 principal California department and apparel stores rose two per cent over June of last year.

June sales of 4555 independent retail stores in California, representing about 30 different kinds of business, showed a gain of 5.2 per cent over a year ago. Among the kinds of businesses, sales of motor vehicle dealers showed the largest increase with a gain of 19 per cent, followed by "other" house furnishing stores, up 17.7 per cent, and jewelry stores, 12.6 per cent.

The general nature of this improvement is reflected in far western bank debits, the total for 30 leading cities registering a gain of 4.2 per cent over a year ago. Also, carloadings reached a total of 222,745 freight cars, an increase of 9.4 per cent.

Many California farmers received better prices for their products, as indicated by the farm price index, which rose on June 15 to an average of 86 per cent of the pre-war level. This was 7:5 per cent higher than in June, 1938. The improvement was chiefly in fruits.

Building activity continued its forward strides. Permits for construction of all types in 32 principal California cities totalled $15,979,841 during June, and this was 12.4 per cent higher than in June of last year, although 15.9 per cent lower than in May. In residential building, however, the decrease was less than seasonal, 11 larger cities reporting June residential permits totalling $8,596,000, an increase of 14.4 per cent over last year and only 2.6 per cent lower than May.

Inadequate Wiring

Small electric wires in homes are causing our customers to lose many dollars

The Utility District has spent many hundreds of dollars to bring the proper voltage to your building. Beyond the meter is where the loss occurs.

The District cannot deliver the proper quality of electricity to your lamps or appliances if your wiring is inadequate (too small or in poor condition).

Your lamps will not burn as brightly as they should; your iron, toaster or cooker will not heat as fast as they should, and your refrigerator, radio or washing machine will not operate as efficiently if your wiring is too small. BUT your meter will keep running just the same.

Call the electric contractor in and have him check your wiring and give you an estimate on bringing it up to standard. Have him put in a few extra convenient outlets while he is there.

The feud has been brewing since then and the latest activity has been this: "The New Dealer has written to the editors of the papers printing the column "suggesting" that they should drop the column from their papers. The answer has been a boomerang, for most of the editors are now urging the writer to publicly spank the cabinet member more frequently. And not a single editor has thus far dropped the column from his paper.

Poplars Fastest Growing
Poplars are the fastest growing and the shortest lived of all trees. They have an average life span of only 10 to 15 years. The sequoias have the longest life expectancy.

The career diplomats have long been opposed to the course pursued by the United States in its dealings with Mexico over the expropriation of American owned oil lands. The politicians, however, always with an "uplifting" motive for anyone anywhere, strongly defend the "good-neighbor policy," even in the face of seizure by Mexico of Americans' properties. They have denied that Mexico has turned Communist. Now comes the story from the New York World's Fair that Mexico at its exhibit has pictured itself by a map of flaming red.

"Thank heaven, the map still shows the United States in white," one career diplomat remarked.

Life of Big War Guns
The war department says that the life of a big gun is 200 to 500 rounds. This does not mean, however, that the gun is absolutely worthless after 500 rounds, only that it has to be relined. A big gun would be considered a 14 or 16 inch gun.

HOLLYWOOD—1939 has been lovely Ann Sheridan's "year." Billed as America's "oomph' girl," the beautiful, naughty-but-nice-red-head recently acquired a most unique gift: the gold-and-enamel pin in her turban. Here is the story: A month ago a neatly typed note, in impecable English, arrived bearing a Siamese postmark. It was signed in an undecipherable scrawl. The writer requested a photograph. Miss Sheridan complied with the request. Several weeks later, a small package with a lovely pin inside, enclosed with a brief note, arrived at the Sheridan home. Ann's picture had gone to the commander-in-chief of the Siamese army, who showed his gratitude by sending the bauble and making Miss Sheridan an honorary member of the palace guard at Bangkok. And so Hollywood's latest glamour girl will wear the pin honorary member of the palace guard to the premiere of "Naughty, But Nice," her first starring film.
